The Langston Lab is honored to report that Mike Langston has been promoted to Senior Associate Editor at ACM Computing Surveys. Produced by the Association for Computing Machinery, the world’s largest scientific and educational computing society, ACM Computing Surveys is a peer-reviewed, quarterly scientific journal established in 1969 with William S. Dorn as its founding editor-in-chief. ACM Computing Surveys publishes survey and tutorial articles of widespread interest to the computing community. In a recent ranking of computer science journals, ACM Computing Surveys received its highest mark, A*. According to Journal Citation Reports, ACM Computing Surveys has a current impact factor of 16.6.